

THE BEAUTY INSIDE

HIRING INTERIOR DESIGNER MAKES PROCESS EASY, FUN

W

When you make the decision to build your dream home at Sun Rivers, it can be a bit of a daunting prospect. You want everything to be perfect, everything to go smoothly, and everything in its right place. That's why the Sun Rivers team has all the experts to make the process easier, including interior designer Lenna Sawyer of Lenna's Creative Interiors.

Sun Rivers Construction recognized at the outset that a fundamental part of its construction service would be interior design services to assist customers in making the best possible choices the easiest possible way.

Interior designer Lenna Sawyer of Lenna's Creative Interiors. At left, the interior of the house.

Sawyer has been in the business long enough to know that there are any number of mistakes that can be made in the process of building a house, especially if a homeowner decides to go it alone. And it won't take long before those errors become costly and stressful.

"There are so many details to putting together a house. Most people don't realize it until they get into it," Sawyer explains. "Some people phone me in the middle of building a house and say, 'Help!' And I go in there and so many mistakes have been made that are easy things that I could've put them straight in a big hurry, but they're made, and sometimes they can be very expensive to change at that point."

Sawyer has helped shape the interiors of the majority of the homes in Sun Rivers' adult communities, including the newest development on the block, The Pointe. Her designs have ranged from the cozy English country cottage feel of the Stoneridge subdivision to the more sleek, modern feel of The Pointe.

By tapping into the expertise of an interior designer, prospective homeowners have access to all the "latest and greatest and innovative ways to put together a house," as Sawyer puts it, as well as special deals that are only available to designers.

"I think the biggest myth is, 'I can't afford an interior designer.' That's the biggest mistake people make when they build a house," she says. "By working with somebody who does this for a living, works with new things all the time, has access to the designer prices, you're taking advantage of all of that knowledge and resources that an interior designer has. Most of the time, you'll be saving money by hiring a designer. Few other builders offer a standard design service as part of their construction package — Sun Rivers understands how this service helps the customer."

By teaming up with an interior designer and having somebody to take care of the minutest of details, as well as keeping an eye on the big picture, the process of putting a house together can actually become a pleasurable experience, according to Sawyer.

"Most people just think it's an easy thing to do, but it's not as easy to get the product of your dreams without excessive time and worry — design services makes the customer's life easier, makes the whole process fun and enjoyable." 🌟

FASTFACTS

Excel Industries is the official kitchen and bath countertop and cabinetry supplier for Sun Rivers.